AND DAWN COMES

And Dawn Comes
Mixed Media on Canvas

And Dawn Comes reflects the quiet arrival of light—an abstract meditation on transition, renewal, and the subtle shift from darkness into clarity. A layered field of soft greys, muted blues, and warm undertones creates an atmospheric ground, where forms appear gently, as if emerging with the first light of day.

Linwood's signature language is present in the balance between control and release, where abstraction carries emotional weight without overt definition. The piece feels both grounded and open, inviting a sense of calm reflection.

Subtle and luminous, And Dawn Comes brings a quiet optimism to an interior—an artwork that unfolds slowly, offering depth, softness, and a sense of beginning.
