COUNTING TIME

Counting Time
Mixed Media on Canvas

Counting Time reflects the quiet awareness of passing moments—an abstract meditation on rhythm, repetition, and memory. Built through layered washes of soft greys, muted blush, pale blue, and warm neutrals, the composition carries a sense of calm structure softened by time and touch.

Contemplative and atmospheric, Counting Time brings a sense of stillness and depth to an interior—an artwork that invites reflection on both presence and passage. Linwood's signature language is present in the layering, the softened edges, and the interplay between form and abstraction. Each element feels considered yet unresolved, allowing the work to unfold gradually—much like the quiet rise it references.
