

TENDERNESS LETTING GO

Tenderness, Letting Go

This layered mixed-media work explores the quiet tension between holding on and release. Soft fields of blush, sand, and pale blue form an atmospheric ground, over which gestural marks, graphite linework, and dripping pigment create a sense of movement and emotional gravity. The central, cloud-like form appears to hover and dissolve simultaneously, suggesting a moment suspended between presence and disappearance. A recurring bateau motif traces the journey of life, while layered textures build, shift, and reveal something new with every glance.
