

THE SUN RISES

The Sun Rises

Mixed Media on Canvas

The Sun Rises is a quiet study in renewal—an abstract composition that reflects the subtle shift from stillness to emergence. Built through layered washes of soft greys, warm neutrals, and muted color blocks, the canvas carries a sense of calm structure, as if mapping the rhythm of a new beginning.

Linwood's signature language is present in the layering, the softened edges, and the interplay between form and abstraction. Each element feels considered yet unresolved, allowing the work to unfold gradually—much like the quiet rise it references.
